Building a Strong Workforce through Career and Technical Education Programs

Lively Technical Center Director, Shelly Bell

Shelly Bell has worked in public education in Leon County for the past 18 years. In 1999 she earned her Bachelor's Degree in English Education from Florida State University and in 2002 earned her Master's Degree in Educational Leadership. Shelly started her teaching career in 1999 at Belle Vue Middle School. In 2003 she entered School Administration as an Assistant Principal at Wesson Elementary School. In 2007 she was named the Principal at the Academy of Academics and Technology and in 2008 named the Principal at Elizabeth Cobb Middle School. After four years at Cobb, in 2012 she was named the Principal at Amos P. Godby High School. After five successful years at Godby, Shelly was asked to move to the district administration as the Director of Career, Technical and Adult Education.

During her time in education, Shelly has held strong to the belief that schools must provide students options for career and college readiness. She was instrumental in building the engineering, aviation, welding and nursing programs at Godby High School. Shelly is passionate about helping all students acquire the challenging academic, technical, and employability skills they need to succeed in postsecondary education and high-demand careers.

In her personal life Shelly enjoys spending time with her husband, Ricky, and her two sons, Parker and Taylor. She also enjoys traveling around the southeast watching her boys compete in golf.
